1. The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required:

The claimed features of a network including plural coupled computer arrangements and a program for causing the network to operate in accordance with a method as in claims 11-13, one or more host computers configured to carry out a method as in claims 14-16, and a memory device or storage medium including computer readable data in the form of a program for causing a network to be operated in accordance with a method as in claims 17-19, all do not have proper antecedent basis in the specification disclosure.

2. Claims 11-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The claimed subject matters of a network including plural coupled computer arrangements and a program for causing the network to operate in accordance with a method as in claims 11-13, one or more host computers configured to carry out a method as in claims 14-16, and a memory device or storage medium including computer readable data in the form of a program for causing a network to be operated in accordance with a method as in claims 17-19, all were not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

3. Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, lines 1 and 3, each term of "SCSI" and "MPLS" should be defined as to what it stands for at its first occurrence. Line 6, "the MPLS protocol" lacks antecedent basis.

In claim 3, lines 1, 3 and 4, each term of "SCSI", "MPLS" and "mSCSI" should be defined as to what it stands for at its first occurrence. Line 6, "the MPLS protocol" lacks antecedent basis.

In claim 5, line 3, "the MPLS network" lacks antecedent basis.

In claims 6, line 2, it is confusing for reciting "routing protocol". Is it referring to the MPLS routing protocol as in claim 4 or MPLS protocol as in claim 3. Line 3, it is unclear as to what each term of "CR-LDP" and "RSVP-TE" stands for.

In claim 7, lines 1 and 4, each term of "iSCSI" and "MPLS" should be defined as to what it stands for at its first occurrence.

In claim 8, lines 1 and 2, each term of "iSCSI" and "MPLS" should be defined as to what it stands for at its first occurrence. Line 3, "label switched path" should read as -- Label Switched Path -- to be consistent in claim language with its dependent claim 9. Line 6, "a MPLS" should read as -- an MPLS --.

In claim 10, line 2, it is unclear as to what each term of "CR-LDP" and "RSVP-TE" stands for. Same line, the phrase "or similar" renders the claim(s) indefinite because the claim(s) include(s) elements not actually disclosed (those encompassed by "or the like"), thereby rendering the scope of the claim(s) unascertainable. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

In claims 11-13, it is vague and indefinite for reciting a “network” without reciting any structural elements but a program to perform the functions as in method claims 1, 7 and 8.

In claims 14-16, it is vague and indefinite for reciting “one or more host computers” without reciting any programming code and processor for carrying out the methods as in claims 1, 7 and 8.

In claims 17-19, it is vague and indefinite for reciting “a memory device or storage medium including computer readable data in the form of a program for causing a network to be operated in accordance with a method” without reciting any processor or computer for carrying out the method or structural elements for the network to perform the functions as in the method claims.

4. Claims 1-10 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

5. Due to the nature of objection to the specification, and 112, 1st & 2nd paragraph issues regarding claims 11-19, no prior art or allowable subject matter can be determined or applied at this time.

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Chui, Mizrachi et al., and Barzilai et al. are all cited to show the common feature of packet network utilizing SCSI and/or iSCSI protocols and packet header encapsulation for data transportation similar to the claimed invention.

7. Applicant's arguments filed November 14, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In the remark, regarding the acronyms of SCSI, MPLS, mSCSI, PDU, and iSCSI, the applicant argued that these terms are defined in the specification, there is no need to further define in the claims. The examiner disagrees, since for example, the term of "SCSI" could stand for Small Computer Storage Interface, and the term of "MPLS" could stand for Multi Protocol Label Swapping (see U.S. Patent No. 6,754,210), which are different from the definition as defined in the specification of the instant application. Therefore, the applicant is required to further define such acronyms to distinguish from the definitions of prior arts. Regarding claims 11-19, the applicant's arguments are moot in view of the objection to the specification, and 112, 1st & 2nd paragraph issues as indicated above.

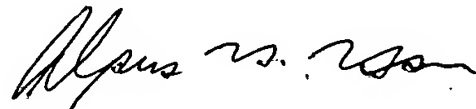

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Alpus H. Hsu whose telephone number is (571)272-3146. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F (5:30-3:00) First Friday Off.
